soners by Mexicans.

El Paso, June 22.—The Americans lost twelve dead, including their commander, and seventeen prisoners, while fourteen Mexicans were killed and thirty wounded in the battle of Carrizal, according to the official announcement today of the Mexican consulate, which said it had received complete details from the American commander.

The Americans removed their wounded with them. The name of the American commander still is unknown.

The bodies of the American dead were counted as they lay on the field of battle.

spection, vaccination, physical test and other regulations.

"But if need arises, we can send these forces out much faster without gathering them at concentration points," an official said today.

President Wilson heard the news gravely at a midnight vigil in the White House. He remained on duty until border reports indicated Pershing could not report during the night.

Wait Nearly All Night for News.

He left instructions, however, that any definite information he flashed him immediately. Secretary Baker and members of his staff were in touch all night with his department, though they settled down to its accustomed state of calm in the early morning hours, with only watchmen and dispatchers on the job.

Route to Fort Riley.

The men of Battery A stand excellent chances of being a unit of the forces which will probably strike at Mexico City from the east coast of Mexico if war is declared. That was the opinion of military experts here today. Army officers refused to comment, but others familiar with the situation pointed out that there is practically enough artillery on the border to co-operate with infantry invading from the north. The battery will leave tomorrow, it was said today.

Topeka was a center for troop movements today. Shortly before 10 o'clock this morning a Union Pacific special train carrying the quartermasters and supply corps of the First infantry, thirty men, Captain Wagstaff commanding, from Lawrence, and Company H of the First infantry, from Topeka, Kan., left for Fort Riley at 11:45. Eighty-one men were in Captain Rupert's command. One hundred and five were with Captain Clark. All the companies left officers in their home towns to recruit more men. The Union Pacific special was the first train through here.

"Rock Chalk Battle Cry." The Kansas university battle cry, that has been heard on battle fields around the world, will be heard again in Mexico if the troops "go in." The university's "Rock Chalk, Jay Hawk" cheered the men on in the Twentieth Kansas's bloody campaign in the Philippines. Men carrying the stars and stripes shouted it when they forced the gates of Peking in the Boxer rebellion. It has been heard in the European war.

A magazine writer, telling about a charge of the French Foreign Legion at Verdun, wrote:

"These men of the Foreign Legion, mostly men who are not too proud to fight, seem to be strangers in the Philippines. Men carrying the stars and stripes shouted it when they forced the gates of Peking in the Boxer rebellion. It has been heard in the European war."

A referendum will be demanded if city commissioners decide to publish the revised jitney ordinance following a conference to be held this afternoon between a committee representing the commission and a delegation from the jitney drivers' union. This decision has been definitely reached by the drivers it was announced this morning.

Petitions have already been circulated by the jitney drivers who claim to have obtained more than 7,000 signatures. These petitions will be filed immediately after the new ordinance is ordered published.

While less than ten miles of paved streets is withheld from the jitneys under the new ordinance, the drivers maintain that inability to operate over the territory would ruin their business. Payment of a $300 license fee for permission to operate over the streets would be equally disastrous they declare.

At the city hall it was pointed out this morning that the only purpose of the ordinance was to protect the railway from the street cars. Carranza desired to disclaim responsibility for the affair. From foreign diplomats at Mexico City it was learned that Carranza was exerting every effort to avoid a break with the United States.

War department officials believe that if seventeen American soldiers actually are in the hands of the Mexicans they will be surrendered at the first opportunity. A demand for their immediate release would be the impression taken by the United States government. Callers who saw the president today got the impression that he determined that it despite all efforts to prevent it, war with Mexico should come, the action of the United States would be prompt and on a scale of considerable magnitude. It would not be a war of conquest, but Mr. Wilson is prepared if necessary to use the maximum available military strength for the nation for a short, decisive campaign to re-establish order and a stable government in Mexico.

Washington, June 22.—No reason for a change in policy toward Mexico is seen by the Washington government in Mexican accounts of the clash at Carrizal yesterday between American and Carranza troops. Until a report comes from General Pershing there will be no decision, but President Wilson is said to view the fight as an incident for which subordinate commanders probably were responsible and not as unlikely to precipitate general hostilities.

An official communication from the Mexican foreign office announcing the fight and the capture of seventeen Americans and seeking every effort to strengthen the position of the United States soldiers in that part of Mexico, far from their base, was presented to Secretary Lansing today by Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate. It said an interpreter employed as a guide by the American force declared that Carranza's army commander was responsible for the encounter.

Would Avoid Break? From the tone as well as the contents of this communication officials draw the impression that Carranza desired to disclaim responsibility for the affair. From foreign diplomats at Mexico City it was learned that Carranza was exerting every effort to avoid a break with the United States.

War department officials believe that if seventeen American soldiers actually are in the hands of the Mexicans they will be surrendered at the first opportunity. Governor Capper announced today that he would go to Fort Riley Sunday or Monday officially to review the Kansas National Guard before they leave for the Mexican border. It is probable the governor will be accompanied by his official staff.

Plans to inspect the state troops were announced by the governor shortly before noon today. He was undecided as to the exact time of his trip to the mobilization point. Final decision, he said, would depend on advice from Gen. Charles I. Martin. "I want to go to Fort Riley to see the boys before they leave the state and to bid them goodbye," said the governor. "My going will be based on advice from the adjutant general."

With telegraphic reports today to the effect that the war department plans to send the Kansas troops into Mexico immediately, it is probable that the governor may review the state troops Sunday. Under the advice from Washington, there is a belief among state army officers that the Kansas troops may leave Fort Riley Monday or as soon thereafter as they can entrain.

General Martin today announced the direction of a special train over the Union Pacific to carry Battery A of Topeka to Fort Riley. The special will leave Topeka over the Union Pacific at noon Friday. Members of the Second regiment band were ordered to Fort Riley.

We would be sorry to see any of our men resign to enlist in the guard," one of Mr. Ford's assistants said, "but both recruits and state militiamen will be treated alike—as though they quit the plant to engage in other lines of business."

El Paso, June 22.—Dismantling of the Mexican wireless station was accomplished at noon, while the Carranza barracks just across the street from the famous old Juarez mission was stripped of all equipment. Another train load of soldiers left for the south this afternoon.
